

Bettisworth North is a team of Alaska community builders. Our design solutions celebrate Alaska's diverse places with an emphasis on environmentally and culturally responsive designs. Our team are creative, professional, collaborative, expert, and dedicated. Joining our team requires skill, teaming, humor, a sense of adventure, and a passion for positively impacting people and communities through design.

We are currently seeking a full-time Interior Designer based in our Anchorage, Alaska, office. The Interior Designer, while working under the direction supervision of a more senior Interior Designer or Project Architect, performs a variety of production and design tasks in support of a range of projects throughout Alaska. Individuals will actively participate in the firm's collaborative design process, working directly with colleagues, consultants, and stakeholders on multiple concurrent diverse and exciting building and community development projects.

Qualifications:

- Minimum bachelor's degree in Interior Design or Interior Architecture, preferably CIDA-accredited
- 4+ years of work experience in the field of interior design/architecture
- NCIDQ certified or plans for NCIDQ qualification preferred
- Experience or proficiency with additional design & graphic software (i.e. Bluebeam, Sketchup, Enscape)
- Experience or proficiency with Fixtures, Furnishings and Equipment (FF&E) design and procurement
- Holds or aspires to LEED AP, WELL AP, or similar industry credentials

Responsibilities:

- Participates in all phases of the design lifecycle: planning and concept through construction
- Participates in document production, specifications, and construction administration as assigned
- May participate in business development activities including writing for reports and proposals

We provide a positive, friendly, and inclusive workplace, personalized professional development opportunities, and competitive benefits. Hybrid work arrangements may be available. Salary DOE.
