

Bettisworth North is a team of Alaska community builders. Our design solutions celebrate Alaska's diverse places with an emphasis on environmentally and culturally responsive designs. Our team are creative, professional, collaborative, expert and dedicated. Joining our team requires skill, teaming, humor, a sense of adventure and a passion for positively impacting people and communities through design.

We are currently seeking an Interior Design Intern for Summer 2023 to work with our interior design team in our Anchorage, Alaska, office. As an intern, you will have opportunity to gain knowledge and work experience as part of an integrated architecture and interiors project team. You may assist on a range of assignments while working under the direct supervision of a more senior Interior Designer.

Qualifications:

- Currently enrolled in or recently graduated from interior design or interior architecture program, CIDA-accredited preferred
- Interested in a career in commercial interior design

Responsibilities:

- Supports design, production, and construction administration as assigned under direct supervision
- Utilizes appropriate communication techniques for positive collaboration
- Accountable for technical completeness, accuracy, and timeliness of work
- Assists in managing interior resource library including vendor/manufacture rep relationships and project-specific materials research, sampling, and presentation board production

This is a paid internship opportunity. You will gain practical experience working with integrative teams, understand the design and construction process, and learn how a design firm operation.

Please note this is an on-site position; hybrid and remote arrangements will not be considered for the internship position.
